Communal frenzy in North India

1766. SHRI BISHAMBHAR NATH PANDEY: Will the Minister of HOME AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that a large number of innocent people fell victims to the communal frenzy in various parts of North India in 1989-90;

(b) if so, what is the extent of loss of life and property and what steps Government have taken to rehabilitate the victims; and

(c) whether Government propose to constitute a Central Police Force to combat communal riots alongwith the Central Police Services?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS (SHRI SUBODH KANT SAHAY): (a) and (b) On the basis of available information, a tabular statement showing the number of major communal incidents, persons killed, loss of property and rehabilitation measures taken by the State Governments in the various parts of Northern India in 1989 and 1990 (till 37-7-1990) is attached. It would be observed therefrom that there has been no incident of major communal violence in the Northern States after April, 1990. However, in this connection it may be stated that taking into account the pattern of communal violence in the country in the recent past and with a view to foiling the mischievous designs of the communal and devisive forces, the Government has revised its guidelines on promotion of communal harmony and for prevention of communal violence and circulated the same to the various State Governments/UTs on 23rd April, 1990. These guidelines lay particular stress on streamlining of administrative machinery, non-official participation, check on anti-social forces, removal of irritants and promotion of measures for rehabilitation of the riot victims. The concerned State Governments have been able to control the communal situation and fortunately there has been no major incident of communal violence since then.

(c) There is no such proposal.
